

AMEGA

Privacy Policy

Effective June 06, 2022

Commitment

Data collection

Use of personal data

Security and protection

Your consent

Your rights

Queries

This website and its contents are subject to applicable copyright and intellectual property laws.

You cannot use any materials from this website, downloadable or otherwise, without the permission of Amega Global Ltd (hereafter the Company, Amega or we).

Copying any information from the Company's website and/or publishing it elsewhere is only permitted if you indicate the information source and provide a link as to where you found this information.

Commitment

The privacy of our website visitors and customers, both existing and former, is of ultimate importance to Amega and we are committed to safeguarding any information we collect, use and hold about you.

Data collection

While registering on the Company's website for an account we will collect some personal data from you for business purposes. By understanding your financial and trading preferences, we can provide you with the most suitable products and services, give you the fitting information on investment strategies, process your requests and transactions and offer you an after-sales service and support as required.

We will collect personal and financial information needed during the online registration forms, as well as documents needed as proof of your identity and residential address such as a passport, National ID, utility bills or bank statements.

Throughout your use of the Company's website, we will collect personal information, such as names, addresses, personal registration number, national identification number, passport number and email addresses, financial information, trading experience and employment information for appropriateness assessment will also be collected.

However, the meaning of data “provided to” Amega is not limited to these. Further to the above, the information we may collect can include but not be limited to the following:

- history of website usage or search activities, details of your visits to our website including, communication data
- traffic and location data
- website traffic pattern information, including IP address, operating system and browser type, for system administration and to report aggregate information to our advertisers; and
- communications between you and the Company via Live Chat, email, or telephone calls.

If you choose to end our working relationship with Amega, we are obliged to keep your personal data on record for a further seven years.

Use of personal data

We will use the data we collect about you for, including but not limited to the following purposes:

- verifying your identity
- ensuring that you meet the suitability requirements needed to use our products and services
- managing your account settings
- keeping you updated with news on our products, services and any other information relevant to your working relationship with Amega
- suggesting the services which are fit to your profile
- processing your transactions
- communication with you regarding the transaction/post-transaction services;
- improvement of our products and services as well as operation of our website; and
- analytical, statistical and R&D purposes.

From time to time we may also provide parts or all of your personal data to our partners in order to manage, operate, test, develop, diagnose and administer our products and services to you as may be necessary through third parties.

Security and protection

Amega is committed to keeping your personal data safe by adhering to strict security standards and using the most up to date security technologies.

Your consent

Upon accessing Company's website, you consent to keep, use and disclose your personal data in compliance with this policy statement.

Your rights

In accordance with the General Data Protection Regulation, every user is granted a number of rights in relation to their personal data. These rights include accessing and/or amending your personal data, requesting termination of your personal data being used and processed for the purposes of preventing undesirable marketing.

Queries

If you have any questions or require any further clarifications in relation to how your personal data is being used you can contact us through support@amegafx.com.